About the survey

Government budget decisions – what taxes to levy, what services to provide, and how much debt to take on – have important consequences for all people in society. When governments provide information and meaningful channels for the public to engage in these decisions, we can better ensure public money is spent on public interests.

The Open Budget Survey (OBS) is the world's only independent, comparative and fact-based research instrument that uses internationally accepted criteria to assess public access to central government budget information; formal opportunities for the public to participate in the national budget process; and the role of budget oversight institutions, such as legislatures and national audit offices, in the budget process.

The survey helps local civil society assess and confer with their government on the reporting and use of public funds. This 10th edition of the OBS covers 82 countries.

Visit www.internationalbudget.org/open-budget-survey for more information, including the full OBS methodology, findings for all surveyed countries, and the Data Explorer.

Transparency

This part of the OBS measures public access to information on how the central government raises and spends public resources. It assesses the online availability, timeliness, and comprehensiveness of eight key budget documents using 109 equally weighted indicators and scores each country on a scale of 0 to 100. A transparency score of 61 or above indicates that a country is publishing a sufficient volume of budget information, and that this information provides meaningful coverage of core fiscal data, enabling the public to understand government budget decisions and supporting informed public debate on fiscal policy.

Honduras has a transparency score of 62 (out of 100).

Honduras's transparency score of 62 in the OBS 2025 is near its score in 2023.

What changed in OBS 2025?

Honduras has decreased the availability of budget information by:

- Failing to publish the Pre-Budget Statement online in a timely manner, as it must be made available to the public at least one month before the Executive's Budget Proposal is submitted to the legislature for consideration. This document had been published in a timely manner in previous OBS rounds.

Recommendations

Honduras should prioritize the following actions to improve budget transparency:

- Publish the Pre-Budget Statement online in a timely manner.
- Include in the Executive's Budget Proposal more comprehensive disclosures of fiscal risks and multi-year projections (including BY+2 estimates), by strengthening the disclosure of extra-budgetary fund information, quasi-fiscal activities, and policy and priority information for a multi-year period.
- Include in the Year-End Report more comprehensive macroeconomic forecast data and policy and performance information, by strengthening the disclosure of comparisons between the original macroeconomic forecast and actual outcomes, comparisons between planned nonfinancial outcomes and actual outcomes, and the original level of funds for policies impacting the most impoverished and actual amounts.
- Improve the comprehensiveness of the Citizens Budget, by strengthening the disclosure of public dissemination and outreach efforts and citizen versions across the budget cycle.
- Improve the comprehensiveness of the Audit Report, by strengthening the disclosure of extra-budgetary fund information and steps taken by the executive to address audit recommendations.

Public Participation

The OBS assesses the extent to which governments provide formal and meaningful opportunities for public participation across the different stages of the budget process. It examines participation practices used by the central government's executive (including line ministries), the legislature, and the supreme audit institution (SAI), recognizing that engagement can occur across different institutions. Using 18 equally weighted indicators, the OBS evaluates whether these participation mechanisms are timely, inclusive, transparent, and responsive, in line with the Global Initiative for Fiscal Transparency (GIFT) Principles of Public Participation in Fiscal Policies. Each country is scored on a scale from 0 to 100, reflecting the strength of its formal public participation practices across institutions and throughout the budget process.

Honduras has a public participation score of 17 (out of 100).

Extent of opportunities for public participation in the budget process

Recommendations

To further strengthen public participation in the budget process, Honduras's Secretaría de Finanzas should prioritize the following actions:

- Pilot mechanisms to engage the public during budget formulation and to monitor budget implementation.
- Actively engage with underrepresented communities, directly or through civil society organizations representing them.

Honduras's Congreso Nacional has established committee hearings related to the approval of the annual budget, but should also prioritize the following actions:

- Allow any member of the public or any civil society organization to testify during its hearings on the budget proposal prior to its approval.
- Allow members of the public or civil society organizations to testify during its hearings on the Audit Report.

Honduras's Tribunal Superior de Cuentas has established mechanisms for the public to assist in developing its audit program. It should prioritize the following actions to improve public participation in the budget process:

- Establish formal mechanisms for the public to contribute to relevant audit investigations.

Oversight

The OBS examines the role that legislatures and supreme audit institutions (SAIs) play in overseeing the budget process, including how effectively they scrutinize budget proposals, monitor budget implementation and review government accounts. Using 18 equally weighted indicators, the OBS assesses the strength and independence of these oversight institutions and scores each country on a scale from 0 to 100. In addition, the survey collects supplementary information on the existence and role of independent fiscal institutions (IFIs), which can contribute to informed debate and enhanced oversight of fiscal policy (see box below).

The legislature and supreme audit institution in Honduras, together, provide limited oversight during the budget process, with a composite oversight score of 50 (out of 100). Taken individually, the extent of each institution's oversight is shown below:

Recommendations

Honduras's Congreso Nacional provides limited oversight during the planning stage of the budget cycle and weak oversight during the implementation stage. To improve oversight, the following actions should be prioritized:

- The legislature should debate budget policy before the Executive's Budget Proposal is tabled and approve recommendations for the upcoming budget.

- Legislative committees should examine the Executive's Budget Proposal and publish reports with their analysis online.
- The legislature should approve the Executive's Budget Proposal before the start of the budget year.
- A legislative committee should examine in-year budget implementation and publish reports with their findings online.
- In practice, ensure the legislature is consulted before the executive shifts funds specified in the Enacted Budget between administrative units; spends any unanticipated revenue; or reduces spending due to revenue shortfalls during the budget year.
- A legislative committee should examine the Audit Report and publish a report with their findings online.

To strengthen independence and improve audit oversight by the Honduras Tribunal Superior de Cuentas, the following actions are recommended:

- Ensure audit processes are reviewed by an independent agency, such as a peer SAI or an international organization, on an annual basis, and that the results of these reviews are publicly disclosed.

The benefit of establishing independent fiscal institutions

Honduras does not have an independent fiscal institution (IFI). IFIs are widely recognized as valuable independent and nonpartisan information providers to the Executive and/or Parliament during the budget process.

Methodology

- Only documents published and events, activities, or developments that took place through 31 December 2024 were assessed in the OBS 2025.
- The survey is based on a questionnaire completed in each country by an independent budget expert:
Alejandra Sarahi Zelaya Salgado; Jorge Leonel Henriquez
Foro Social de Deuda Externa y Desarrollo de Honduras
Col. Alameda, Ave. Tiburcio Carías Andino, Casa No. 1011 / www.fosdeh.hn contacto@fosdeh.net
- To further strengthen the research, in Honduras the draft questionnaire is reviewed by a representative of the Secretaría de Finanzas.
